

Emergency Dental Care

You should attend a hospital Emergency Department (ED) if you require emergency dental care. This is an immediate response to a time-critical dental care need.

Dental emergencies requiring emergency dental care include:

- Traumatic injuries to the face or mouth such as complete displacement of a tooth from its socket
- Oro-facial swelling that is significant and worsening;
- Post-extraction bleeding that the patient is not able to control with local measures; dental infections associated with acute systemic illness or raised temperature; restricted mouth opening; and oro-dental conditions that are likely to exacerbate systemic medical conditions such as diabetes

Contact NHS 111 Wales for further advice.

If you have a problem with your brace please call the practice, if this is out of normal opening hours including bank holidays and staff training days your message will not be attended to until we are next open. If you are unsure about what to do please call NHS 111 Wales.
